Anthony to feature on Brits In The Sun TV show

A MAN from Skelmersdale who moved to Spain for brief stay 12 years ago and is still living there is appearing in the new series of the Channel 5 TV programme Bargain-Loving Brits In The Sun.

Anthony Horadada, from Birch Green, will appear on the show this Sunday evening.

The series charts the lives of Brits who have swapped the damp and grey of the UK for a new life in the sun on the Costa del Sol.

Anthony, who delivered the Champion when he was a boy, said: "I moved to Spain for three days and I'm still here."

Anthony Horadada.

"I've not seen some of my family in Skelmersdale since 2020."

"I worked on series two and three of the show and I have done other bits since."

"The programme initially looked at my journey to Spain and has followed how I have settled down."

There will be another series of the show on TV later this year.

SHOPS AND CAFES PLAZA PROPOSAL UNVEILED FOR FORMER CAR WASH SITE

Plans put forward to transform area
of land off by-pass

Report by Henry James

PLANS to build shops and eateries at the former TC car wash and cafe site in Tarleton have been put forward.

The site on Southport New Road, Mere Brow, which used to be a filling station and cafe as well as hand car wash facility, has been derelict for several years.

The proposals to redevelop the site involve building two retail units, a food retail unit, and a hot food takeaway.

Plans submitted to West Lancashire Borough Council state that the location of the units within two "clusters" will allow for the creation of landscaped areas and a central plaza.

This will "promote the usage of external areas while maximising the views through the site and the units, towards the countryside."

Trees will be planted to the front and either side of the new buildings and there will be areas of green space and hedging.

The plans state that "the development will be an electric vehicle charging bay. A cycle shelter with 10 spaces and four motorcycle spaces will be provided as well.

The retail units will utilise a palette of rustic/natural materials including wood, weathered brick and slate roof tiles.

It is thought these redevelopment proposals could prevent any incidents, such as criminal damage and arson, being committed at the site.

The application states: "This proposal will be a benefit to this area; capable of improving a site that is at present detrimental to the amenity of the local area; and is suitable for the location proposed."

MP celebrates after British Sign Language bill passes 'huge hurdle'

BSL edges closer to being recognised as official language after it passes 'second reading'

Report by Henry James

A BILL presented to parliament by West Lancashire MP Rosie Cooper to make British Sign Language a legally recognised language has passed 'second reading' and is on its way to becoming law.

The bill aims to recognise BSL in legal statute as a language in its own right.

The campaign is personal for Ms Cooper as her parents were 'profoundly deaf.'

It has also been backed by Eastenders star and Strictly Come Dancing winner Rose Ayling-Ellis, who is deaf.

Minister for Disabled People, Chloe Smith MP who has worked closely with Ms Cooper in developing the bill, spoke at a debate last week to confirm the government's support of the bill.

It will now move to its committee stage, and then 'a third reading' in the House of Commons followed by passage through the House of Lords on its way to receiving Royal Assent.

Rosie Cooper MP said: "I am delighted that the bill has passed this huge hurdle. It has been at least 230 years since BSL was first introduced, so this will be a very emotional day for every deaf person who has been waiting for the legal recognition of their language."

MP Cooper outside Parliament after her bill passed its second reading and (left) deaf actress Rose-Ayling-Ellis, who has backed the bill

"The success we now enjoy lies on the shoulders of all the deaf people, including my dad, who over the years fought for recognition and equality! That goal is now squarely in sight."

"Getting the government to support my bill has always been essential to actually making it into law. The Minister has really embraced the bill and BSL itself, and has helped wholeheartedly to develop it into something that will really make a difference."

Minister for Disabled People Chloe Smith MP said: "It is a significant step towards real equality for deaf people and will see British Sign Language become a recognised language."

"Passing the bill will see the government commit to improving the lives of deaf people and help create a more inclusive and accessible society."

Couple kept ponies in appalling conditions in ‘shocking case of cruelty’

Pair were spared jail due to their age and medical needs

Report by Henry James

A COUPLE from Tarleton kept four severely neglected ponies “imprisoned in deplorable conditions” at a smallholding they owned.

An RSPCA inspector said “the extreme level of neglect found will remain with me” and said she had not seen anything like it in her entire career.

The ponies - aged around six and seven years old - were unable to stand up naturally due to the level of faecal buildup in the cramped conditions.

And it is thought they may never have left their filthy stables during their whole life.

Three other ponies were found in poor health stabled at premises nearby.

Jack Carter, 75, and wife Barbara, 72, both of Bank Bridge, who bred, showed and kept horses for 60 years, both pleaded guilty to three animal welfare offences when they appeared before Lancashire Magistrates on Thursday, January 20 in a prosecution brought by the RSPCA.

The RSPCA were called to investigate after a member of the public raised concerns about the welfare of a pony believed to be in their care.

RSPCA inspector Vicki McDonald attended the address on Monday, March 22 (2021) and could see a rundown stable block behind the couple’s house but was unable to access it.

After making several attempts to contact the couple by telephone to arrange to visit them Inspector McDonald was concerned that the defendant was avoiding a visit so returned to the area again to view the stable from a public footpath nearby - where she saw that a green sheet and wire mesh now covered the doorway of the dilapidated stable she saw on her first visit.

She believed there was a pony inside which Jack Carter was trying to hide so she arranged a formal visit with Lancashire police.

She met with Carter who denied there were any ponies or horses at the site on a number of occasions but when she asked to see inside the stable at the back of the house he reluctantly agreed.

The ponies had to live under these filthy conditions.

RSPCA officers found a pony in this state.

sions but when she asked to see inside the stable at the back of the house he reluctantly agreed.

Inspector McDonald said: “The severe lack of care and level of suffering endured by these ponies was prolonged, wholly avoidable and totally inexcusable.

“It was heart-breaking to find them in such a neglected state and for them, after such an awful life, to be beyond saving.

These ponies were kept stabled within a few feet of the back door to Carter’s home address.

“They would have seen them daily and their plight would have been ignored daily. The extreme level of neglect I witnessed, in this case, is unlikely to ever be surpassed and will remain with me.”

The couple also kept five ponies stabled in nearby Liverpool Road. They had access to food and water but two needed treatment.

As well as the life ban on keeping all animals both defendants were imprisoned for 12 weeks suspended for two years and were both ordered to pay £500 cost.

In sentencing the magistrates heard how the Carters had been given the opportunity to work with the RSPCA on previous occasions but did not seek that help.

The presiding magistrate said the case was “extremely distressing” and added: “The only reason the sentence was suspended is to take into account the defendant’s medical needs and age.”

PC Sean Dalby, wildlife officer for Lancashire Police added: “This was a shocking case of needless cruelty to several ponies.”

The fan used racist language during the Merseyside Derby last December.

Football fan gets three year ban for shouting racist abuse

A LIVERPOOL fan from Netherton has been banned from attending matches for three years and given a £300 fine after he shouted racist abuse at an Everton player during the Merseyside Derby last year.

Robert Owen, 54, of Fernbank Drive, was overheard by a police officer making a racial slur during the match at Goodison Park on Wednesday, December 1.

Owen was then arrested on suspicion of a Section 5 Racially Aggravated Public Order offence.

On Friday, January 21, Owen appeared at South Sefton Magistrates Court and was issued with a three year Football Banning Order, preventing him from attending any regulated football matches during that time.

He was also ordered to pay a £300 fine and court costs.

Detective Inspector Steven O’Neill said: “Merseyside is an inclusive and welcoming place and, whatever football team you support, we stand united in saying that there is absolutely no place for hate anywhere on Merseyside.”

“This result means that Owen will now have a criminal record, and the consequences of this for his future could prove to be significant.”

“Let me be clear - to the tiny minority of fans who feel that racist slurs are acceptable, we will work with clubs to find those responsible and bring those responsible to justice.”

“I would like to encourage any football fans with information on such incidents to speak with officers or stewards at the ground or call 101 so that offenders can be found and face the consequences of their actions.”

Man suspected of drug driving after Switch Island crash

A MAN was arrested on suspicion of drug driving following a collision at the junction of Dunnington Bridge Road and the M57 (Switch Island) last week.

A 41-year-old man is currently in custody.

The incident happened at 8.40am on Thursday, January 27 and involved a Ford Transit van, Black Audi A3, and a red MG.

No one was seriously injured in the accident.

Merseyrail set to increase services as impact of Omicron Covid variant reduces MERSEYRAIL is set to increase its services as the impact of the Omicron variant starts to reduce.

The rail provider had to scale back its operation last month due to staff shortages, but they are now in a position to provide more train services across the Liverpool City Region from Monday, February 14.

On the Southport and Hunts Cross lines, Monday to Saturday services will increase to a 20-minute frequency from start until end of service. A 30-minute service will remain in operation on Sundays.

On the Ormskirk & Kirkby lines, Monday to Saturday services will increase to a 20-minute frequency from the start of service until 8pm. They will then operate every 30 minutes until the end of service.

A 30-minute service will remain in operation all day on Sundays.

Andy Heath, managing director at Merseyrail, said: “I am happy to announce that we are now able to increase our services as the impact of the Omicron variant on our staff availability has reduced.

“This is especially pleasing as it coincides with more passengers returning to the network following the Government announcement of an easing of Plan B restrictions across the country.

“I would like to thank our customers for their patience and understanding during this challenging time, as we have worked hard to deliver a reliable service across the Liverpool City Region.”

Merseyrail say that while face coverings are no longer mandatory on public transport, passengers are encouraged to wear one whilst travelling on the network out of respect for others.

Residents invited to help shape plans for Burscough Racquet and Fitness Centre

Report by Henry James

WEST Lancashire Borough Council is inviting residents to have their say about the future of Burscough Racquet and Fitness Centre during a three-week consultation.

Feedback from the consultation will help the council understand what matters most to them about the facilities and activities that are currently offered at the centre and they will use the feedback to help them shape future improvements and investment plans.

West Lancashire Borough Council has an "ambitious strategy" to improve its leisure facilities across the borough.

Their plans involve the development of two new Wellbeing and Leisure Hubs in Skelmersdale and Ormskirk to replace the existing facilities at Nye Bevan Pool, Skelmersdale and Park Pool, Ormskirk, along with investment in Burscough Racquet and Fitness Centre to ensure the future sustainability of this "busy and popular community facility."

Councillor Yvonne Gagen, cabinet member for leisure and human resources is looking forward to hearing people's ideas: "This is a unique opportunity for you to shape how we develop plans for a fitness centre that thrives as a hub for people in the area to get fit and enhance their wellbeing."

"One of the council's priorities is to build sustainable community facilities that promote health and wellbeing among our residents. The new Wellbeing and Leisure Hubs and improved facilities in Burscough are central to delivering on those plans."

The council has said: "We'd like to know what you value in the existing facilities, and what you would like to see. Would you benefit from more racquet sports or longer opening times? Or maybe having a cafe to get a bite to eat is important to you when choosing somewhere to spend your leisure time?"

"Maybe you don't use the facility at present, but particular improvements would mean you would use it in the future? Whatever your priorities are, we want to hear from you so you can help shape our plans to deliver a facility that works for the community."

The consultation is now open and closes on February 16.

People can access it on the interactive portal at the website: letstalkwestlancashire.uk.engage-menthq.com/burscough-racquet-fitness-centre or via the link on the council's website homepage.

Lois with Martin Freeman and Faye McKeever

Young actress Lois says it was 'surreal' watching herself star in The Responder

Report by Tom Martin

A YOUNG actress who goes to school in West Lancashire and has a role in the hit BBC police drama The Responder said it was "surreal" to watch herself on television!

Lois Cringle, 10, who is a pupil at Halsall St Cuthbert's primary school, plays Lexie Sweeney in the series, which is currently being aired on BBC 1 and iPlayer.

While the star of the show, Martin Freeman, admitted it took him a long time to master the Scouse accent, it proved a lot easier for Lois!

Her mum, Helen Cringle, told the Champion: "We have eagerly awaited the release date of The Responder and when it was aired on January 24 it was surreal! Seeing herself on TV was a dream come true."

Lois, who lives in Ainsdale, attends The Lamont School of Speech and Drama, in Formby, where her teacher Diane Lamont saw her acting potential and put her forward for some auditions.

She was asked to do a 'self tape' in October 2020 for The Responder, but due to Covid there were a lot of delays and uncertainty over casting.

Two months later she was asked for a recall and attended a studio in Liverpool city centre where she auditioned for casting director Robert Sterne and director Tim Mielants.

In January 2021 she had a phone call from Diane Lamont to say she had been chosen to play the part of Lexie Sweeney, who is the daughter of gangster Carl, played by Ian Hart.

Mum Helen said: "Lois cried with joy when she heard the news and was so looking forward to getting the script and practising her role."

"In March she had her first taste of filming and we were picked up from our home in Ainsdale by a chauffeur and taken to site where she had her own trailer which she absolutely loved and felt like a real star!"

"Her on-screen dad is Ian Hart and he put Lois at ease telling her jokes and making her laugh. She had a real bond with him, he was great."

"She met Martin Freeman, who spoke to us in a Scouse accent and he was really down to earth and also her on-screen mum, Faye McKeever, who was brilliant with Lois and was really like her second mum!"

When asked what her plans are for the future, Helen said: "Lois hopes to continue acting and is thankful to everyone who helped her to fulfil her wish. She is still attending Lamont and Diane is putting her forward for suitable auditions when they arise. Hopefully she will appear on our TV screens in the near future!"

Pleasure Folk Amateur Musical Society celebrated its 50th Anniversary at Ball

ORMSKIRK Pleasure Folk Amateur Musical Society held a Ball at Briars Hall on Friday, January 28 attended by 120 past and present members to celebrate 50 years of providing entertainment in West Lancashire and further afield.

The society was formed in 1971 with the objective of providing members with the opportunity to gain experience on the amateur stage.

At the Ball there were six members who formed the original 1971 concert party.

Current chairperson Liz Wainwright welcomed everybody. Three life memberships were awarded to Dorothy Prothero and Jim and Susan Briscoe, acknowledging their work for the group over a number of years.

Rehearsals are underway for the society's next show Barnum to be staged in April at Ormskirk Civic Hall.

Schools being supplied with air cleaning units

AIR cleaning units are being deployed to schools in Lancashire after the county council stepped in to ease the pressure caused by the large number of Omicron cases.

Last year, the Department for Education created a programme to supply special schools with free carbon dioxide monitors (CO₂) and air cleaning units.

CO₂ monitors help education settings to identify poor ventilation so they can improve it and reduce the risk of spreading Covid-19.

The government has announced it will deliver up to 9,000 air cleaning units to early years, schools and colleges across the country to improve ventilation in classrooms.

Prior to this announcement, Lancashire County Council decided to build on the national programme to widen it to all schools, committing around £150,000 to the initiative.

Schools in Lancashire can now request carbon dioxide monitors and air cleaning units, while waiting for the national scheme to catch-up.

County Councillor Michael Green, cabinet member for health and wellbeing, said: "Being in the classroom is undoubtedly the best place for children.

"Face-to-face learning is so important for their education and wellbeing, which is why we decided to take additional positive actions to support our schools."

"We now know the importance of keeping teaching spaces well ventilated, and this equipment will help more schools do that and enable them to keep more children safely in the classroom."

As part of the local initiative, the county council has purchased 1,000 carbon dioxide monitors to supply to any school in the county council area.

Schools can use the carbon dioxide monitors to monitor their CO₂ levels and if they can demonstrate there is an issue then they will be supplied a temporary air cleaning unit.

In addition, 110 air cleaning units have been purchased to act as a temporary support for schools that were not able to address their carbon dioxide levels by simple ventilation changes.

So far, 10 have been distributed to a number of schools and nurseries, with 100 now ready to be sent out to education settings across the county.

Looking ahead, the county council is also looking at recruiting extra engineers to help identify medium and long-term solutions for schools.

Camera car to enforce parking restrictions at Fairy Glen beauty spot

Move follows imposition of 'red route clearway' which prohibits vehicles from stopping on road

Report by Henry James

A CAMERA car will be used to enforce a "red route clearway" to stop parking problems at a Parbold beauty spot.

Lancashire County Council's cabinet agreed to introduce the clearway to stop parking across the entire width of the highway, including the pavements and grass verges at Fairy Glen.

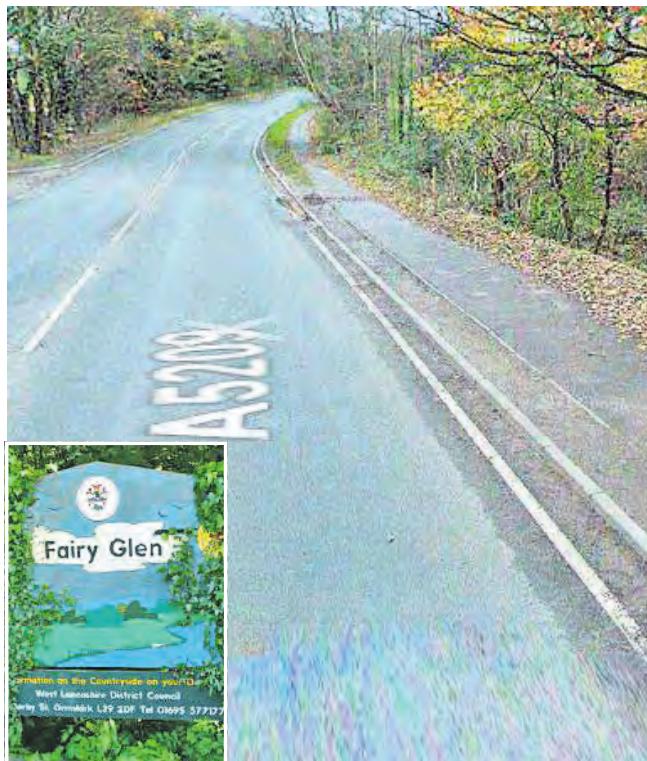

Since 2020, Fairy Glen has seen huge numbers of visitors, many people from outside the area, resulting in what councillors have called, "a serious safety problem due to people parking along what is a very busy road."

Fairy Glen has no dedicated car park and the large numbers of cars parked along grass verges on the A5209 has raised serious safety concerns for the visitors themselves, and other traffic on what is a very busy route.

A spokesman for Lancashire County Council explained how camera cars are used and said: "CCTV enforcement vehicles, or camera cars, can be used to enforce 'no stopping' parking restrictions where an observation period, for example to check whether a vehicle is loading, is not required.

"They are a safer way of enforcing locations such as red route clearways, and something we are considering for the near future."

The report to cabinet also stated: "In this

The entrance to Fairy Glen instance the implementation of a Red Route clearway has been chosen due to the unambiguous definition that coverage is for the full extent of the highway which includes footways and verges by default without the requirement to add this element as a supplement which is the case for normal clearway restrictions.

"This, in conjunction with the clearer, more perceptible, signage, is anticipated to reduce any misunderstanding for drivers and allows for the potential use of more effective methods of enforcement activity such as camera cars in the future."

Fly-tipping incidents on rise across the borough

FLY-TIPPING has increased across West Lancashire according to new figures.

Statistics from the Department for the Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (DEFRA) show there were 3,246 incidents in the borough 2020/21, up from 1,870 fly-tipping incidents in the previous 12 months.

Councillor Gareth Dowling, cabinet member for communities at West Lancashire Borough Council, said: "There is an unfortunate minority of people who will fly tip and cause a blight for everyone else.

"This is entirely unacceptable and if they are found, will be placed before the courts.

"Not only do we have dedicated enforcement staff to identify and prosecute fly-tippers but we also utilise CCTV to help catch the culprits.

"In the last calendar year we issued 72 fixed penalty notices of £200 in relation to fly-tipping offences across West Lancashire.

"We also have a number of cases awaiting court action in relation to fly-tipping offences and we will continue to prosecute those who break the law wherever possible.

Statistics from the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs show an increase in fly-tipping incidents nationally including in West Lancashire, but they also show this Council's almost threefold increase in actions undertaken to tackle the offenders.

"Just late last year we demonstrated our commitment to tackle fly-tipping with the investment in mobile CCTV and we will continue to do what we can to keep West Lancashire clean."

Rupert Wailes-Fairbairn from rural insurance firm, Lycetts, is urging farmers and landowners to take extra steps to protect themselves against fly-tipping.

He said: "Gates should be locked when not in use and although witnesses of fly-tipping incidents should not approach the perpetrators, by cutting back hedges and installing exterior lighting, visibility for the landowner can be notably improved.

"The installation of security cameras can also act as a deterrent and help in securing successful prosecutions."

Decision this week on radar speed cameras proposal for junctions

Hi-tech devices would avoid disruption as there is no need to dig up roads to lay cables

Report by Henry James

PROPOSALS to install red light and speeding cameras at two accident blackspots in Ormskirk are to be decided upon at a meeting of Lancashire County Council's cabinet this week.

The cameras could be installed at the Five Ways and Hayfield Road junctions on the A59 to improve safety following a number of serious collisions as a result of people running the lights.

The report to the council's cabinet meeting to be held on Thursday, February 3 asks councillors to allow the award of a contract to the only Home Office-approved supplier of a camera system which uses radar technology.

The other systems available rely on laying cables under the road, making them more disruptive to install and maintain.

The cameras also detect when a vehicle is speeding to deter people from accelerating through the junction on green before the lights turns to red.

County Councillor Charlie Edwards, cabinet member for highways said: "We've been looking at ways to improve safety at the Five Ways and Hayfield Road junctions for some time, and these cameras which can detect people speeding, as well as going through on red, would appear to offer a good solution.

"This is the first time we've looked at using this type of technology, but if successful we could potentially roll it out to other places in Lancashire where there are similar problems.

"Digging up the Five Ways junction to install cables would be extremely disruptive, and something we would like to avoid, so I will be asking cabinet to allow officers to procure the only Home Office approved system which uses radar technology instead of cable detection loops."

The report also outlines that the speed limit on this section of the A59 has recently been reduced, and the speed enforcement element of the cameras would help to further improve road safety.

If the proposal is agreed by cabinet, officers will be able to include the cameras within ongoing plans to improve highways and transport in Ormskirk.

New chapter for libraries as council to consider 'fresh vision'

Report by Henry James

NEW plans to ensure Lancashire's libraries and museums maintain their "central role" in the cultural life of the county are to be considered by councillors.

The Library and Museum Strategies 2022-25 set out a vision for how these vital services will evolve over the coming years to inspire learning, keep people healthy and connected, and preserve the county's diverse heritage.

Councillors are to be asked to approve two distinct strategies for libraries and museums at the county council's next cabinet meeting on Thursday, February 3.

The strategies outline a brief history of Lancashire's libraries and museums, and how the services plan to support the council's corporate priorities of delivering better services, protecting the environment, supporting economic growth, and caring for the vulnerable.

They also outline how the services will respond to the latest national guidance.

For libraries, there is a focus on making the most of the deep connections which libraries have with their local communities to not only provide a point of access for cultural activity but support people with the information and skills they need throughout their life.

A key aim for museums is to support innovation and creativity, and be ambitious in continually improving the quality of the experience they offer to visitors.

County Councillor Peter Buckley, cabinet

member for community and cultural services, said: "We're proud to have such wonderful libraries and museums which are a huge asset to everyone who lives in Lancashire, and play a vital role in preserving our diverse heritage and culture, and presenting our story to visitors from around the world.

"They also play a valuable part in supporting many of the county council's core priorities, whether through providing an inspiring environment which fosters a child's early love of reading, helping older people learn new skills online, or interpreting our history in new and engaging ways.

"Our libraries and museums are continually evolving to ensure they continue to make a real difference to people's lives, and these strategies provide the direction for the work of our talented and dedicated librarians, curators, and conservators over the coming years."

County Councillor Peter Buckley, cabinet

Young karate star travels to Mexico to compete with some of world's best!

Danni finishes seventh out of 56 competitors at international event

Report by Henry James

A FORMER pupil of Up Holland High School, who is the top ranked karate star in her division, recently competed with the world's best at a tournament in Mexico.

Danni Williams, who is a student at Winstanley College, entered the World Karate Youth League in Mexico and came in seventh place among 56 competitors.

She had many good rounds before eventually bowing out to the winner of the competition.

Danni finished as the top British athlete for her division.

She said: "It was a great experience, and I am very pleased with my results."

Danni, who studies PE, Psychology and Criminology, began karate classes when she was nine and by the age of 12, she was selected to represent England.

She decided to give karate a go after seeing a class taking place in the gym, which sparked her interest and from her very first session she loved it.

She said: "I work hard and train a lot so to be so successful is great as it makes all the work worth it in the end."

Danni holds a black belt in the sport and has done for five years now, which is no surprise given the dedication she shows toward her training.

She trains six times a week and is the highest world ranked British athlete in her division!

Danni has won multiple titles including KWF European Champion, Central England Champion and she holds two British Gold Medals.

A spokesperson for Winstanley College commented: "We're sure you'll agree that Danni is doing an amazing job of representing both Winstanley College and the country. Well done Danni – keep up the hard work!"

Now that's what you call fresh food on demand!

In these days when we are prepared to criticise anything, possibly in the hope of obtaining some financial compensation, it's an absolute delight to tell a tale of amazing customer service.

I regularly shop at Fylde View Farm shop in Hesketh Bank and on my last visit, among other things, I wanted some purple flowering broccoli only to find that there were only two small pieces left in the box.

I asked the young farmer if he had any more thinking that maybe he had some in an adjacent barn store.

He said 'yes' - if I was prepared to hang on a couple of minutes he would cut some.

To my complete and utter amazement he left the little shop, jumped in a tractor parked outside, drove off down the track to his fields, returning a few minutes later with a bucket full.

That's what I call customer service, not to mention fresh food straight from the field.

I think that we should all support local businesses and this one certainly deserves everyone's business.

Don't forget to ask the police about 'double dipping'

Re: police funding.

With regards to Ray Shannon's survey with Merseyside Police: it might have been appropriate for him to have asked the questioner something along the following lines: "How many officers currently serving in either police or civilian roles have already once retired and have received their [first] lump sum and are in receipt of their [first] pension having been re-appointed to a different role."

A practice, I believe, known as 'double dipping.'

Time to replace Pool Park with a clean and modern facility

It is time to replace the Park Pool leisure centre in Ormskirk with a clean and modern facility.

I recently rejoined Park Pool facility after a 22 month break due to the Covid pandemic.

I have been visiting Park Pool for 35 years, using the swimming pool, gym and health suite and I was dismayed by the 'tired' appearance of this facility.

I felt that while the leisure centre had been closed down, some improvements could have been made.

The health suite has not been cared for and I remember when it was a meeting place for friends to spend mornings chatting and passing the time away.

The over 60s concession has been taken away for members and this will discourage the older generation from joining and keeping fit.

The proposed plans for a new centre off County Road seem to have been forgotten. Of course there is the Edge Hill University Park Pool in Ormskirk.

Sports Complex but this is not easily accessible for the children and older residents of Ormskirk.

Maghull has a lovely modern facility and puts ours to shame.

More seating is needed at the Concourse

I am fed up of shopping at the Concourse as I get out of breath and in pain.

There is not enough seating down the aisles for elderly, pregnant or like myself disabled people.

I use crutches as I can only bear weight on one foot.

This means that my foot that I do put my weight gets painful after just a few steps.

I have spoken to the management and even the security staff have told me that there is not enough room for more seating!

What nonsense.

There is plenty of room for thinner benches to help and look after the customers that need them.

After 130 years Aughton Lawn Tennis Club members can look forward to a bright future

A bitter sweet time is ahead for Aughton Lawn Tennis Club... as work starts to convert the last three grass courts to all weather surfaces.

They have stood the test of time for 130 years, since in 1892 the land was donated in trust for a tennis club.

The centenary of the club in 1992 saw an afternoon of Victorian tennis in full fancy dress followed by a Marquee Ball with lady members serving all the food.

The club continued to grow with members playing more often and with just the two friendly teams and one men's league team, it was time to enter a mixed league and a second men's team.

The club was awarded Sportsmark, now tenismark, as recognition of a well run, safe and effective tennis club.

The club by then had three grass courts and five all weather courts, but in 2014 after three poor summers with limited use available on the grass courts the members voted to convert them also to all weather surfaces.

The LTA were approached in the hope of a grant. None was available but with certain conditions, one being a significant contribution from the club, a loan could be negotiated.

The members planned to concentrate on building up the funds which, with a profitable bar and regular social events in the club was achieved and a considerable reserve fund was available in 2017 to begin the process.

It was unfortunate that in line with sports clubs in general all over the country, membership of the club began to fall and this wasn't helped by the country going into lockdown, but a strategy group was formed to begin the project.

They spent countless hours meeting multiple problems, not least getting planning permission, until finally their work is coming to fruition.

The lockdowns caused them delays and extra problems and also meant the courts were closed for many weeks over the last two years.

The club was grateful to the government for two grants received to support the loss of subscriptions and ongoing running costs to get through this time.

The courts will be closed again during the construction works but the members are very much looking forward with great anticipation to seven courts with floodlights available for play all year round.

After 130 years it is something they can celebrate.

Name supplied,
Aughton

Pub closes for big £500,000 upgrade

Report by Henry James

THE Farmer's Arms in Burscough has closed for a major £500,000 upgrade.

The new tenants, Star Pubs & Bars and Crosthwaite & Gilpin Ltd, owned by Chris and Jon Nevin, are behind the plans.

The pub will reopen in early April in time for Easter and will be recruiting for 30 new jobs offering career opportunities within Crosthwaite & Gilpin Ltd and the other hospitality businesses owned and operated by Chris and Jon Nevin.

The Farmer's Arms will be their third pub to open in two years.

Inside, the pub will be remodelled from top to bottom, with the aim of creating a contemporary venue. The kitchen will also be fully remodelled and up to date kit installed.

The exterior of the Farmer's Arms is being given a facelift, including new signage and festoon style lighting.

Chris said of their plans: "We love the canal side location of The Farmer's Arms and that you can see the Pennines in the distance. It's a lovely albeit tired pub with loads of potential. Our ethos is all about doing simple things well."

"So with our experienced manager, Ali Coxon at the helm, our intention is to offer great food and drink and excellent service in a top-quality, warm and welcoming environment – everything you could wish for in a pub with an amazing location and lovely area to both live in and visit."

David O'Brien, Star Pubs & Bars business development manager said: "Chris and Jon have done an amazing job over the last two years creating fantastic popular village pubs. With further housing being developed in the area and a winning approach to hospitality, I feel sure The Farmer's Arms will be as successful for them and for the village and wish the team well."

"This investment will take The Farmers Arms to a whole new level."

Dan Mitchley on the attack for Skelmersdale

Skem beaten in top of table clash at Macclesfield

Bumper crowd of 4,327 enjoy action-packed encounter between division's top two sides

Macclesfield 3
Skelmersdale United 1

SKELMERSDALE United were leapfrogged by Macclesfield at the top of the North West Counties Premier Division after losing out in the top of the table clash, writes Kevin Panther.

It was a day of reckoning for the top two teams in the North West Counties Premier Division, with league leaders Skem travelling to big spending Macclesfield and a crowd of close on 4,500, the biggest in the North West Counties for several years were there to witness it.

Skelmersdale took the game to the hosts with Mikey Howard causing a particular threat to the home defence.

On 15 minutes Howard was through on goal, and his shot beat the keeper all ends up, but unfortunately he also beat the outside of the post.

Elliott Morris opened the scoring for Skem with a superb strike from around 25 yards that left keeper Burscough clutching at thin air.

However, with half time beckoning Macc struck the all important equaliser, when a cross from the right found James Berry-McNally who side footed past the United defence and into the goal.

The equaliser arriving so close to the interval was the impetus the home side needed, as Neil Danks and Mark Duffy, who have made more than 1,000 Football League appearances between them began to dominate the middle of the park after the break and it was Danks who added the second for Macc on 67 minutes with a fine finish from the edge of the box.

Some young Skem fans at the match.

Skem responded brilliantly with a double effort from Danny Mitchley and Howard but their hearts were broken with two minutes to go when Brandon Lonsdale added the killer third goal.

Skem boss Paul McNally said after the game: "All the onus was on them to win today, it was their cup final so to speak."

"There is still a long way to go and there will be more twists and turns before the season ends. The league has not been won today or lost, with eleven league games remaining."

Next matches:
- Saturday, February 5. Wythenshawe Town vs Skem. Kick off 3pm.
- Tuesday, February 8. Skem vs Runcorn Town. Kick off 8pm.

Linnets dig deep to earn point in six goal thriller

Burscough 3

BURSCOUGH returned with a useful point against a tough AVRO team, writes Neil Leatherbarrow.

Burscough had to fight hard for their point, recovering twice from a goal down before finally equalising in the last five minutes.

The Linnets were stung by going behind just over a minute into the game, Louis Potts running onto a defence splitting ball before slamming the ball home from eighteen yards out.

When Burscough equalised inside three minutes it set the tone of the afternoon, it was clearly going to be an exciting one. Burscough had lifted a free-kick into the AVRO penalty area that they managed to keep alive, the ball eventually falling to midfield.

livewire Ryan Smith on the left hand side and his shot flew into the far corner of the net.

Lewis Lacey went close from a free kick on the twenty minute mark as the hosts pressed but it was Burscough's turn to hold the lead on the half hour.

Again the hardworking Linnets prevented AVRO clearing the ball after a dead ball kick into the goalmouth, this time it was Nathan Martland who was the beneficiary, latching into a loose ball and finding the net to make it 2-1 to Burscough.

As was the run of the game the Linnets lead was short lived, Kyle Jacobs striding forward from midfield before making it 2-2 with an unstoppable shot from 25 yards out.

Kane Wallwork bungling the ball home at the near post.

The not inconsiderable wind had been in AVRO's favour in the opening half, it was in the Linnets favour as they chased the game after the restart.

Five minutes from the end Burscough were rewarded for their endeavour and none stop effort, the ball broke in the AVRO six yard box and Tom McNamara prodded the ball home.

It was a hard earned point for Burscough but a valuable one, they haven't been on the best of runs recently and it will give them confidence, especially as AVRO are one of the better teams in the league.

Next matches:
- Saturday, February 5. Burscough vs AFC Liverpool. Kick off 3pm.
- Tuesday, February 8. Burscough vs Lower Breck. Kick off 7.45pm.

Champion MOTORSHow wound-up other road users are really winds me up!

■ The Highway Code rule changes affect drivers and cyclists alike

LIFE ON CARSwith

came up on my driving test – and the first thing the examiner told me after issuing me with my licence was that it would've ended very differently had I not let them over.

Nope, my FURIOUS FIGHTBACK is against the people who weren't even fussed with the rules pre-rewrite. Not you, of course, and certainly not me, but I'm on about people who give all the various groups of road users a rotten name. There are plenty of cyclists, for instance, who do it by the book, but the ones I see most nights are riding up the pavement, with no lights on. There are loads of decent, hardworking lorry drivers too, but they're let down by the ones who insist on ploughing through roundabouts regardless of what's coming through. Oh, and you don't get off either, car drivers – why is that YouTube is packed with clips where some irate driver screams "YOU TOTAL INVESTMENT BANKER!" (well, at least that's what I thought I heard) at another driver in a heated situation that they themselves have caused?

Rewritten rules or not, I think far too many people out there need to stick some Enya on, order a book on mindfulness and learn to let it go before venturing out onto Her Majesty's Highways. How wound-up other road users are really winds me up.

It's time for me to get behind the wheel and begin my furious fightback. Oh wait...

David Simister,
editor of Classic Car Weekly

■ Morgan has specialised in three-wheeled sports cars for more than a century

MORGAN is unveiling a new three-wheeled sports car later this month. The Malvern sports car specialist hasn't revealed much about the new model ahead of its February 24 launch, but has confirmed that it'll be powered by a three-cylinder Ford engine and that it'll be the company's first entirely new design since the Aero 8 of 2000. Morgan has been making three-wheeled sports cars for more than a century, with the last one going out of production last year.
